Clinton and his critics are at odds

THE PRESIDENT'S "WILL TO LEAD" is the central theme of the 1996 campaign, and it is a theme that has resonated with voters across the country. But what does it mean? Is it a promise of a new kind of leadership, or is it a promise of a new kind of politics? The answer, I believe, lies in the way the president has chosen to lead.

From the moment he took office, Clinton has shown a willingness to listen. He has sought out the views of people from all walks of life, and he has tried to understand their concerns. This is not a leader who is afraid to ask questions or to admit when he is wrong. It is a leader who is willing to learn from his mistakes and to grow as a person.

But there is more to Clinton's leadership than just listening. There is a sense of purpose and direction that has guided him through the challenges of the White House. He has a vision of a better future for America, and he is determined to make it a reality. This is not a leader who is content to simply react to events; it is a leader who is proactive and who is always looking for ways to improve the lives of his people.

Clinton's leadership is not perfect, but it is real. It is a leadership that is based on honesty and integrity, and it is a leadership that is rooted in the values of the American people. It is a leadership that is worth following, and it is a leadership that is worth supporting.

No deal, rights victims urge govt

Human Rights Watch (HRW) has urged the Philippine government to stop negotiating with the Communist Party of the Philippines (CPP) and to instead focus on protecting the rights of its victims. HRW states that the government's current approach is inadequate and that it is necessary to take stronger action to address the human rights violations that have occurred.

More than 100,000 people have been killed or injured in the conflict between the government and the CPP. HRW calls for the government to stop using military force against civilians and to instead focus on protecting the rights of its citizens. Issue of Libingan burial for Marcos back from the dead

By Kenneth D. Maxwell

THE POWER WHO WOULD END the legacy of "Dutay" Marcos has a new mission. It is to bring back the issue of the burial of the late President Ferdinand Marcos in the Libingan ng mga Lahi. The issue has been dormant for years, but it has now been revived by the current administration.

The issue is a sensitive one, as it involves the remains of a former president. It is also a controversial one, as it involves the issue of the burial of a controversial figure. The issue has been dormant for years, but it has now been revived by the current administration.

Erap: Bail or 'city arrest'

By James F. Reyes

WHILE SENATOR JUAN PUNZALAN is pushing for the release of former President Joseph Estrada from custody, the Senate has also been asked to consider the possibility of a "city arrest."

A "city arrest" would mean that Estrada would be arrested by the police in a public place, such as a shopping mall or a park, and taken to a police station.

The "city arrest" would be a way for the police to arrest Estrada without having to go through the legal process of a warrant.

"FRIENDLY PERSUASION," which had proven quite effective in curbing the illegal numbers game "jueteng" in Puerto Princesa City, could also work in the drive against illegal drugs.

Puerto Princesa City Mayor Edward Hagedorn, also the Arroyo administration's anti-jueteng czar, said he plans to share the "Pinoy strategy" with some 300 international antidrugs specialists attending the 2nd Asian Cities Against Drugs (Ascad) summit in his city on Oct. 12-15.

President Macapagal-Arroyo was originally scheduled to address the conference which aims for a "Drug-Free Asia" but will most likely send a representative, according to Malacañang sources.

Citing the "Puerto Princesa experience," Hagedorn told the INQUIRER that "minimizing, if not totally eradicating, the drug menace was possible using the friendly persuasion tactic."

"Without using force or violence, we have successfully put pushers behind bars and brought drug dependents back to the normal stream of society," Hagedorn said.

The Malaysian port-city of Melaka hosted last year's first Ascad summit, jointly organized by the Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Program, the Melaka State Government and the Malaysian National Drugs Agency.

Cities vs drugs

Summit delegates adopted the Melaka Resolution where they reaffirmed their commitment to the prevention and control of illegal drugs in their respective countries.

As of yesterday, delegations from the following countries had confirmed their attendance at the conference:

Malaysia, Pakistan,

Indonesia, Sri Lanka,

Bangladesh,

Afghanistan, India,

Thailand, Vietnam,

South Korea, Nepal,

Maldives and the United States.

The theme of this year's conference is "Asian Cities Against Drugs: From Conceptualization to Implementation."

According to Hagedorn, who had admitted to being a jueteng operator in the past, "this highlights the importance of government and the private sector joining hands in addressing the drug menace."

In a message to the host city, Melaka Mayor Datuk Hj. Zaini Bin Md. Nor said "the time has come for Asian cities to stand up and draw an action plan" in combating the drug problem in the region.

Zaini, who also chairs the Ascad secretariat, strongly believes that "with the close relationship among (Ascad member-cities), we can develop a network that will embark on drug demand reduction activities and combat the escalating drug menace and related crimes."

'Hyatt 10' eyes Senate, SC as venues to spill beans on GMA

By Jo Zimmerman and Glenn Page

MANILA (Philippine Daily Inquirer) — A report released in an online edition of the Philippine Daily Inquirer on July 11, 2000, revealed that a source inside the Hyatt Regency Manila hotel is planning to leak information about the hotel's surveillance of GMA.

The hotel is alleged to have been monitoring GMA's activities since the network's launch in 1991, according to the report.

Hyatt Regency Manila is a five-star hotel located in the heart of Manila. It is one of the largest hotels in the Philippines and is known for its excellent service and facilities.

The report claims that the hotel's surveillance system is capable of monitoring all communications within the hotel, including phone calls and television broadcasts.

Paraguay prevails, takes lead

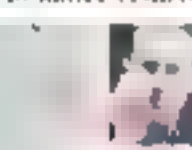

PARAGUAY, Sept. 10 (AP) — Paraguay's national football team defeated Brazil 1-0 in a friendly match Sunday, taking the lead in the 1994 World Cup qualifying race.

The match was played at the Estadio Nacional in Asunción. Paraguay's goal was scored by Claudio Borja in the 78th minute.

Brazil's manager, Carlos Roberto Costa, said his team was disappointed but vowed to continue fighting for the World Cup.

Paraguay's victory was a significant boost for the team, which has been struggling in the qualifying process.

Discovery open to justice reform

PARAGUAY, Sept. 10 (AP) — A new law allowing the discovery of evidence in criminal cases has been passed by the Paraguayan Congress.

The law is seen as a major step towards reforming the justice system, which has long been criticized for its inefficiency and lack of transparency.

2. In a 2D plane, consider a point $P(x, y)$ and a line L defined by the equation $ax + by + c = 0$. The distance from P to L is given by the formula:

[illegible]

Figure 1. Schematic representation of the experimental design. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The control group received a standard training program, while the experimental group received a training program with a focus on the specific skills required for the task. The results of the training program were compared between the two groups.

Nuclear assets to be sold, too

By Douglas M. Allen

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The federal government is planning to sell off a large portion of its nuclear assets, including the ownership of the nation's nuclear reactors, in the first quarter of 2006, according to a report by the Congressional Budget Office. The report, which was released last week, says that the government is planning to sell off the ownership of the nation's nuclear reactors, as well as the ownership of the nation's nuclear fuel cycle, in the first quarter of 2006. The report also says that the government is planning to sell off the ownership of the nation's nuclear waste management program, as well as the ownership of the nation's nuclear research and development program, in the first quarter of 2006.

Government rewrites new tax law following complaints from telecommunications firms

By Matthew J. Ryan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — The U.S. Treasury Department has announced that it will drop the 10 percent value-added tax (VAT) on international telecommunications services.

The move comes after a series of complaints from telecommunications firms that the VAT was too burdensome.

The Treasury said it will also drop the VAT on international telecommunications equipment.

The move is part of a broader effort to simplify the tax code.

There are many reasons why the company's stock price is so high. One of the main reasons is that the company has a strong track record of growth and profitability. Another reason is that the company has a large and loyal customer base. Finally, the company has a strong management team that is focused on long-term growth and value creation.
